Bob and Jill went to shop for socks.

“I like soft socks,” said Bob. “Look. Here is a big bag of soft socks.”

“I like red socks,” said Jill. “Here is a little bag of red socks.”

Bob and Jill put the bags of socks in a big sack. They left the shop. Bob’s dog, Tag, grabbed the sack and ran.

“Come back here!” yelled Bob. Tag ran back. He dropped the sack. Bob petted Tag.

Jim and Tom are on a ship. The ship is rocking.

“I am sick,” said Jim. “I want the ship to quit rocking!”

“Sit on the deck and rest,” said Tom. “That will help.”

The ship stopped. Jim and Tom stepped on the ramp and then on sand.

“It is good to be on land!” said Jim.

“Can you help my pets?” Kim asked the vet. “My dog is sick. My cat has a cut on its leg, and my duck will not quack.”

“Yes. I can help your pets,” said the vet.

The vet fixed the cut on the cat. Then the vet said, “This shot will help your dog.” The vet put the duck in a pen with six ducks. They quacked and quacked.

“You are the best vet!” said Kim.

I was napping in my tent when a big wind grabbed it. I ran to get it and slipped on the wet rocks. I fell on a rock. I got a gash on my leg. The tent landed in the sand. I yelled for Mom and Dad. They came quick! Mom fixed my leg. Dad got my tent.

“That does it!” I said. “My next nap is in my bed!”

A little red hen was in a box. There was a net on the top of the box.

“I wish the net was not on this box,” said the little red hen.
 “I want to run and hop.”

The little red hen pecked at the net. Then the net fell off the box. The little red hen ran and hopped.

“Well,” said the little red hen, “I am a happy little hen. I like to run and hop.”

I cannot find my mittens. I looked in the basket next to the door. No mittens. I asked Gus if he had my mittens.

Gus said, "No, I do not have your mittens."

I was getting very upset! Where are my mittens?

"Did you look in your jacket pocket?" asked Gus.

I looked in my pocket. There were my mittens!

Jack is my little kitten. Jack was napping on my bed.

“Get off that bed!” yelled my Mom.

Jack ran and hid.

“Come back, Jack,” I said.

Then Jack ran in. He did a big jump. He landed in my lap and licked my chin. “Jack, you are the best cat! But stop jumping on my bed.”
